

TECHNOLOGY RESOURCES

INTERNET RESOURCES FOR COMMUNITY GROUPS:

www.lincproject.org Tips and information on how to fix technical problems www.techrocks.org A non-profit organization solely dedicated to using technology to further the organizing movement, they offer lots of good suggestion and tips on their web site, as well as a free database.

www.organizenow.net/techtips/index.html Offers technical tips on listserves, databases, computer security, and finding technical volunteers for non-profits and social change groups.

www.netaction.org A comprehensive website on internet organizing.

www.techsoup.org A comprehensive source of technology information just for nonprofit organizations. They provide referrals to consultants and other resources.

www.npowerny.org Offers low-cost to no-cost technology consulting, training, and volunteer matching for non-profits.

www.fcny.org The Fund established the Center for Internet Innovation to develop technology systems and applications that help nonprofits and government streamline operations, expand services and in general improve performance. They also run the Nonprofit Computer Academy, which offers low-cost computer classes, Internet classes, seminars/conferences and technology consulting.

www.ccnyc.org The Citizens Committee for New York City offers free web-development training classes and a free website for neighborhood associations.

http://foundation.verizon.com/06003.shtml This Verizon grantmaking program presents the nonprofit community with many opportunities - new technological tools for innovative philanthropic solutions.

http://foundation.verizon.com/06003a.shtml A community collaborative, sponsored by Verizon, which provides technology solutions by sharing knowledge and making it available to nonprofits.

MEDIA AND MARKETING WEBSITES:

www.spinproject.org Provides media and marketing technical assistance to nonprofit public-interest organizations across the nation. Offers a great page of "useful links" to other organizations that provide technical assistance.

www.green-room.org An on-line resource that will show you how to get media coverage, how to implement a media campaign and why this is crucial for your organization.

LOBBYING AND ADVOCACY WEBSITES:

www.afj.org/fai/napresource.html Provides legal advice and technical assistance to non-profits involved in lobbying and advocacy organizing.

www.npaction.org An online resource for nonprofit advocacy. It is a central advocacy hub that provides nonprofits with access to information about rules governing policy participation, examples of successful and unsuccessful efforts, and identification of key resources.